Military Guards City For Fear of Clash

Report of Invasion and Attack by Washington Negroes Cause

PATROL TILL DAYLIGHT

No Trouble of Any Kind and Report Proves to be Unfounded—All Entrances to City Guarded.

Fearing that an armed band of negroes were coming from Washington last night to retaliate as a result made on the part of Alexandrians Monday night to lynch William H. Turner, colored, slayer of Thomas Morgan Moore, of this city and who also attempted to assault Miss Pearl Clark, of Washington secretary to Representative Fred Britten of Illionis, the city was under strong military guard and remained so until daybreak today.

It was a tense night for the residents of the city, all of whom were armed to the teeth and had any mob come as was reported they would have met with a warm reception.

Every avenue leading to the city was guarded by a volunteer military company while state troops patrolled certain streets. The majority of the state troops, however, made their headquarters at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce directly across from police headquarters and were ready at a moments notice to respond to any call that might be made on them.

The streets were cleared of most person about 11 o'clock and by midnight Alexandria was normal and no untoward event occurred. It is needless to say that there was no sign of any mob coming over from Washington.

Alarmed by the reports circulating in Alexandria that a mob of negrees from that city were to make a decent on Alexandria fully a 1,000 residents between Arlington and Del Ray armed with pistols and shot guns stood guard along the main highways until nearly daybreak this morning. Every passing vehicle was stopped by the guards posted along the different roads from Washington and the passengers were carefully scrutizied. The volunteer militia also kepa close watch and its members searched two steam trains for members of the supposed band.

Yesterday afternoon word was received here from the six precinct Washington police that it had been reported to them that an armed band of negroes contempted coming over to Alexandria to "shoot up the city."

Mayor Thomas A. Fisher received the report through Chief Goods it first being given Sergt. W. J. Wilkinson and he immediately got into communication with Adjutant General W. W. Sale, of the state militia, Richmond and requested that troops be sent here following a phone call to Gov. Davis. The adjutant general directed the Colonial States Rifles of Falls Church, Fairfax county, to at once proceed to Alexandria. They came on a special electric train arriving here a few minutes after 8 o'clock and at once proceeded to police headquarters. They were in command of Capt. J. F. Bethune and Lieut. A. E. Piggott. There were fifty members of the company.

A call for volunteers was next issued by Capt. Louis N. Duffey, who served overseas, and at 7:30 o'clock as he stood at the corner of King and Royal streets, and made an appeal for as many ex-service men and in two minutes the company was organized. These men formed quickly being in command of Capt. Duffey and Sergt Eugene Simpson. They proceeded to police headquarters and next rifles were furnished them, which belong to the Alexandria High School Cadets through Capt. W. H. Sweeney, superintendent of schools. There were only seventy-four rifles at hand and 10,000 rounds of ammunition. Capt. Duffey afterward stated he would have been able to obtain double the number of men if he had rifles.

The guns were brought in the police patrol from the High School to police headquarters and given the men. Each man in the company had one Krag-Jorgenson rifle and was furnished with fifteen rounds of ammunition and Capt. Duffey ordered his men not to load until ordered to do so.

The volunteers were transported to the different roads guarding the main entrance to the city in motor trucks of the fire department under the direction of Chief Kenneth W. Ogden and members of the fire department. They entrained at Cameron and Fairfax streets, half a block from police head quarters.

Members of the Home Guard commanded by Capt. T. B. Cochran, Lieut. R. H. C. Beverley and Sergt. Frederick Schneider also numbering more than forty also reported at police headquarters and stated they were ready if needed.

The volunteers were dispatched in squads and guarded the Braddock road, Mushpot Road, over head bridge road at the extreme entrance of north Washington street and a number were assigned for duty at the union station.

The report that thouble was expected between the white and blacks spread throughout the city like wildfire and hardware and other stores havig guns sold out early in the evening and a majority of those not identified with the military it is reported carried pistols. The streets early in the night were thronged with men. Comparatively few colored persons remained on the streets after 8 o'clock at night.

A joint conference of the captains of the two military companies, Chief oGods and others interested was held at police headquarters at 8.30 o'clock and plans completed for the night's work. Everything was done with a military precision and hundreds of persons gathered around police headquarters early in the night to learn what was going on. However, upon the arrival of the state militia the square was cleared of all pedestrians, being closely guarded at each end. The roads leading to the city were as well guarded by the military and the volunteers.

Not in the past twenty years has Alexandria had occasion to call on

Conditions Again Normal

After one of the most exciting nights in its history in many years Alexandria again was normal today and the proposed attack by Washington negroes on the city was the principal topic of conversation on the streets today.

The military company left the city on a special car shortly before 8 o'clock this morning and the volunteers, all residents of Alexandria, disbanded about daybreak this morning. Long before that hour, however, the majority of others on the streets went to their homes and conditions are once omre serene and no trouble is anticipated by the authorities.

ST. MARY'S SOCIAL

Enjoyable Evening Planned by Committee in Charge

The social and dance at the Lyceum this evening will likely be a well attended affair. As considerable interest was aroused when it was stated the picnic on June 16th would be a parish outing.

The proceeds of tonight's entertainment goes to the fund to take free the little ones of the parish on that excursion.

Washington and local talent has been secured to add interest to this evening's program, and a big crowd naturally is expected.

The Knights of Columbus at a meeting last evening donated some money towards this fund, as well as approving the plan to make this a parish affair.

The Sunday School teachers have been working for some weeks past on this entertainment and promise some novel affairs.

Tickets will be on sale at door, at 75 cents each.

Don't forget the tambourine collection for the Salvation Army drive at the movies.

The new public school for colored children on Wythe street between Alfred and Patrick streets is a handsome two story brick building with an English basement of concrete.

It has twelve spacious class rooms, an auditorium, a principal's room and a room for temporary treatment of sick pupils or teachers, which also can be used for a library.

There are four large rooms in the basement which are to be used for the teaching of sewing, cooking and carpentry.

It is a building of which the colored people in particular and the city in general should be proud.

The school board and city council are doing their part nobly and now it behooves us to assist in this grand work.

The school will be named Parker-Gray Public School after the dean of Alexandria colored teachers, prof. John F. Parker, Ped. B., who taught in Snowden School for forty-four years and Sarah A. Gray, two teachers who gave the best portion of their lives in educating the colored youth of this city.

ROB JEWELRY STORE

Bandits Make Getaway in Stolen Automobile After Terrorizing District

New York, May 26.—Five masked men entered a jewelry store at Broadway and One Hundred and Fifth street, yesterday afternoon, terrified four employes with revolvers, seized trays with watches, bracelets and diamonds worth many thousands of dollars and made a clean getaway in a stolen automobile. It was the most daring daylight robbery that has taken place here since the crime wave that followed the armistice. The store robbed is in the heart of the business district in the upper West Side. Scores of men, women and children rushed toward the place when they heard shots from within as the robbers were returning to the automobile but retreated when members of the gang drew revolvers. Not a policeman was in sight as the car speeded down Broadway and turned into a cross street.

The shots inside the store were fired by an employe as the last of the robbers went out of the door.

SIGNS RETIREMENT ACT

Law to Grant Annuities to Civil Service Employes Will be Operative in 90 Days.

President Wilson yesterday signed the civil service retirement act, under which government employes will be retired on a graduated annuity after they have been fifteen years in the service and have reached retirement ages, His act marks the end of an extended struggle by government employes for a retirement law and the Federal employes' union has asked that the President present to that organization the pen he used to affix his signature. The act was passed by Congress last week.

The law will become operative in 90 days. Under it annuities will be granted on a graduated scale to five classes of employes who have been in the government service for periods ranging from 15 to 30 years. The retirement pay will be paid on a contributory basis, government employes furnishing 2 1-2 per cent of the total.

The general age of retirement is fixed at 70 years, but specific exceptions are made in the cases of certain classes of postal employes.

LOCK CASHIER IN VAULT

Finleyville, Pa., May 27.—Masked bandits yesterday held up Cashier John Jones of the First National Bank here and escaped with securities estimated to be worth more than $100,000 and $15,000 in cash.

Jones was alone in the bank at the time of the robbery. He was struck on the head with a blackjack rendering him unconscious, and placed in a vault while the bandits looted the vaults and room.

The men escaped in an automobile pursued by citizens.

Dr. Eliot Says Women Do Not Oppose Meeting Men in "Whoozy" State.

Boston, May 27.—Enforcement of the prohibition amendment is being resisted by a part of our social organizations that we are pleased to call good society," President (emeritus) Charles W. Eliot, of Harvard University, said at a meeting of the Unitarian Temperance Society yesterday.

"These people are causing a great deal of trouble all over the country, principally in teaching lawlessness to the young," he continued, adding: "I know whereof I speak by reason of my knowledge of the undergraduate body of Harvard University."

Mr. Eliot said that young women are meeting young men in what he termed a "whoozy" condition at social affairs which are countenanced by patrons of good social standing. The fact that these young women do not object to meeting men in this condition, he declared, is impending enforcement of the prohibition amendment.

The speaker cited incidents that had come under his observation to show that conditions among working people had improved through prohibition.

Hagerstown, Md., May 27.—As the result of blood-poisoning which developed from a cut in his side caused by a lead pencil in his pocket, former City Councilman Martin A. Mogensen is reported to be in a serious condition at the Washington County Hospital here. An operation was performed by Drs. Peregrine Wroth and W. D. Morrison.

The accident is said to have occurred while Mr. Mogensen was planing a board at the Moller Organ Works. Blood-poisoning developed over night, and he suffered severe pain before being brought to the hospital.

Ideal Section on Lincoln Highway

There is to be constructed on the Lincoln Highway, the great national road stretching across the country from ocean to ocean, an "ideal section," which will embody the highest ideals of modern American high way construction. This section will serve as an example to the road builders of the world seeking information as to the best and most satisfactory type of road that can be built.

The funds for building the section will be provided by the United States Rubber Company. In announcing the company's willingness to pay for the section, Vice President J. N. Gunn said:

"The desire of the company in authorizing the appropriation is to advance public knowledge regarding proper permanent highway construction, and to stimulate on the part of those who have in charge the construction of America's public roads, a careful consideration of the needs of the future in undertaking present construction."

The specifications of the "Ideal Section" have not yet been decided. A questionnaire has been mailed to every highway commissioner and engineer in the United States asking for suggestions. The location of the section has not yet been selected, but conditions on the Lincoln Highway in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa indicate that one of those states will be chosen.

AN ANXIOUS NIGHT

Twenty-three years ago Alexandria experienced a night akin to that of last night, although the preparations on the first occasion was not as perfect. A negro youth against whom a serious charge had been preferred had been taken from the station house a few nights before by an angry mob.

The act caused great indignation among negros of the capital city. They held meetings in churches and other places where resolutions were adopted condemning the authorities of this city and in some cases threatening dire vengeance. But little attention was paid to their ravings until 12 o'clock Saturday night when telephone messages were received in this city from stations on the electric railway stating that bands of negroes, most of whom were drunk, and armed with pistols, razors and sticks, were marching towards Alexandria bent upon vengeance. Within an hour the larger portion of the male inhabitants of the city were armed and congregated upon the streets. At this juncture an alarm was sounded from the City Hall steeple, when the excitement became intense.

The Mayor had called out the Alexandria Light Infantry in the mean time, and they were double-quicked to roads leading int othe city to be ready to intercept any invaders who might appear.

Alarm at times sounded on police whistles, but nothing serious occurred throughout the night, which, however, had been spent in great anxiety by women and children.

Yesterday afternoon the police department of this city had been notified by the officers at the Sixth Precinct in Washington that negroes were buying pistols in that city for the purpose of shooting up Alexandria last night as an evidence of their resentment against residents of this city who formed the posse who went to the jail of Arlington county for the purpose of lynching the negro who had shot down a young and popular Alexandrian as he attempted to protect a young woman from the negro who had made plain his purpose of treating her brutally. The report soon spread over the city, reproducing scenes akin to those of 1897. Early in the night crowds gathered in the streets, and within a short time stocks of pistols which had been displayed in store windows were exhausted. The community was on the qui vive. Automobiles were rorning in every direction paying but little attention to the speed laws. Many motor machines had been placed at the disposal of the police, and had disorder been reported in any section of the city policemen, aided by citizens, would have been on the scene in a few minutes. About this time some parties placed a number of railroad torpedoes upon the track on Wilkes street in front of a train which was being backed into the tunnel. As they exploded many women and children in that locality who were in front of their homes at the times stampeded indoors where they remained until the cause of the explosions had been explained.

This morning dawned calm and serene—the excitement was over. Only two or three trivial cases were on the docket of the Police Court this morning.

"THE SMALL AND GREAT ARE THERE."

Surrounded by paupers, graves marked only by tiny heaps of stones or simple wooden crosses, in the midst of a clump of evergreen trees on a knoll overlooking the valley in which nestles the City of Mexico, the body of Venustiano Carranza, former president of Mexico, was buried this week. To the eastward, in the distance, rises the snow capped peak of the famous volcano Popocatepetl. The mound covering the simple casket is no different than the scores of those covering the more humble dead with whom Carranza was buried, according to his wishes in Dolores cemetery—the Cemetery of Sorrows.

It is claimed that Carranza committed suicide in order to escape capture. His burial in "Potters' Field," after having waxed and waned, brings to mind the words of Job when he lamented that he had survived infancy in the following exclamations concerning the last resting place:

"There the wicked cease from troubling, and there the weary be at rest. The prisoners rest together; they hear not the voice of the oppressor. The small and great are there, and the servant is free from his master."

Carranza is not the first person who wore a diadem but afterwards filled an humble grave. After Queen Marie Antoinette had been beheaded in Paris during the French Revolution she was buried at the public expense. Her interment was conducted on the cheapest plan possible. The expenses of her funeral amounted to six dollars.

TONSORIAL DEMANDS

The first account we have in history of a man shaving himself is given in the book of Genesis where we are told that the young Israelite Joseph performed the act of capillary abridgement upon himself when summoned before the King of Egypt "then Pharaoh sent and called Joseph, and brought him hastily out of the dungeon: and he shaved himself and changed his raiment and came in unto Pharaoh."

Under prevailing conditions it may be necessary for many to follow the example of this well known character in Biblical history. Comparatively few, however, desire to act as their own barbers, notwithstanding the advent of safety razors, shaving tubes etc. But the cost of tonsorial service has mounted skyward during the past few years, until services of a barber are long deferred by many.

A correspondent of a Baltimore paper contributes the following:

One day last week, thinking I needed the attention of a tonsorial artist, I walked into a certain parlor in this city and after waiting a while the man at the chair called next, and I told him what I wanted—a haircut, shampoo, shave and hot towel.

"The ceremony took about 30 minutes and I was told my bill was $2.10.

"Two dollars and 10 cents a half, $4.20 an hour! Shades of Esau! How do they get that way?

"As I am only a poorly paid clerk, I am undecided whether to cut my own hair in the future or let it grow until William Jennings Bryan is elected President of the United States."

Tire Prices

Some False Ideas About Them

Should an extra price buy an extra grade tire?

It should not. Any first-grade tire should be built as well as a tire of that type can be built.

Cord Tires cost more than Fabrics, and are worth the extra price. Men who figure cost per mile are coming to Cord Tires.

But any tire, Cord or Fabric, should be built for the utmost service which that type can give.

Some Men Over-Pay

Some men pay extra prices, expecting extra mileage. Some pay under prices for an under-grade, and hope to save in that way.

Both are wrong. There may be exceptions—there are always freak tires. But countless tests have proved that Miller Tires at Miller prices, on the average, give the lowest cost per mile.

And Miller Tires, both Cord and Fabric, cost about the standard prices.

TreadPatented

Center tread smooth with suction cup, for firm hold on wet asphalt. Geared-to-the-road side treads mesh like cogs in dirt.

We Insist on This

There are three requirements which Miller Tires must meet.

First, they must average greater mileage, type for type, than any rival tire.

We constantly prove this. Eight machines in our factory run two tires each under rear-tire conditions. Each tire is run 650 miles daily by running extra-fast.

Won Over 21 Makes

The Eldorado Stage Co. of Los Angeles tested 21 other makes against Millers on 12-passenger Packard Buses, weighing 8,600 pounds loaded. In this supreme test Millers won by long odds, on long-distance uniformity.

Here we constantly compare the best other tires with Millers. Also in ceaseless road tests. Thus, day by day and week by week, we are guarding the Miller supremacy.

Every Tire Signed

We insist that Millers must be uniform. Each tire is signed. A record is kept of the maker, the inspector and the process.

If a tire comes back for adjustment we learn the reason. If the workman is at fault he is penalized. If the inspector overlooked a flaw he is held responsible. If any process or material is at fault, we correct it.

After years of this checking we've attained uniform tires. There are whole large cities from which not a Miller Tire came back last year.

Treads Must Endure

Miller Treads, by our standard, must outwear the balance of the tire.

We have attained a tread which outwears rivals by 25 per cent.

Every day our tread stock is vulcanized, then tested, in our laboratory. We permit no variation.

Not a single Miller Tire with these new-grade treads has ever come back with the tread gone.

Not 20,000 Miles

Countless reports come to us on Miller Cord Tires showing 20,000 to 28,000 miles of service. And tales of that kind are told everywhere, we learn.

But mileage depends on conditions—on size, care, load and road. Millers are uniform, but they are not used under uniform conditions.

In our factory tests we average 15,000 miles on Cords.

But a Miller Tire will outlast—almost always—any tire that you place opposite, no matter what it costs. Compare them under like conditions, and see what mileage modern tires can give.

You will gain a new criterion.

When you buy a new car insist on Miller Tires. Twenty car makers now supply them and there is no extra charge.

Military Guards City

Mayor Fisher last night stated that he deemed it wise to have the military at hand in case something should break so the citizens would be fully protected in the event an effort was made to have a demonstration of any character. Alexandria at present is without a military company, having been without one since the old A. L. I., left for the border to go to Mexico.

It is now generally believed that the talk about negroes coming over from Washington was simply "hot air" and that no such move was contemplated. However, every precaution was taken to avoid trouble. In addition to the local authorities being on guard the Washington police also were keeping close watch and would have notified the local police had any move along this line been made. Camp Humphreys had 300 men ready for service if needed.

Shortly before 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon Chief Goods of the Alexandria police force summoned every policeman in the city to be on duty at 8 o'clock and every man responded and did special patrol duty. In addition hundreds of other citizens did private patrol duty in automobiles until an early hour this morning.

By direction of Mayor Fisher the military companies were furnished with sandwiches and coffee at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce under the direction of Capt. George H. Evans, business manager of the Chamber of Commerce. The Falls Church Company left here shortly before 8 o'clock this morning and the volunteers removed on duty until day light.

The only use of fircarms reported was when some of the volunteers halted an automobile from Washington before 11 o'clock last night near Hume and they failed to respond. At this juncture a shot was fired over their head and they quickly came to a stop and returned to Washington.

The reports and the activities of the military caused the greatest excitement throughout the city and police department was besieged with telephone calls asking if there had been trouble and some called to ask the cause of all of the doings in the city. Many women were frantic and stayed in doors.

There were many persons laboring under the delusion that Turner, the negro who killed Morgan Moore was being brought here for safekeeping and other rumors also equally as groundless also were in circulation.

The authorities, however, feel they did their duty and express satisfaction today that no trouble of any character whatsoever occurred.

VIRGINIA NEWS

John Garland Pollard, member of the Federal Trade Commission in Washington, is looming up as a candidate in the Virginia gubernatorial situation. Pollard was a candidate for governor in the three cornered race in 1917 in which Westmoreland Davis, of Loudoun, emerged victor. The day after the battle of the ballots, it is recalled, he remarked philosophically that perhaps he might make a better run next time. In making the remark, he recalled that Claude Swanson, now United States Senator, was once defeated for governor by Andrew Jackson Montague, now representative in Congress from the district, before finally landing in the Virginia executive mansion.

H. B. Ramsey, 25, a Danville electric plant worker, is still alive after experiencing the sensation of 2,200 volts of electricity which coursed through his system Saturday. Standing on an iron transformer, he was cutting an arc circuit when the current gripped him and held him there for three minutes, or until a naval recruiting officer, Jesse Eastman, had telephoned to the power plant. Both of his feet are charred and blistered while two of the fingers on his right hand were almost burned through. When the current was stopped, Ramsey fell 40 feet and bounced from the top of a parked automobile onto the sidewalk amid a large crowd of horrified spectators who had been unable to help the man in his plight.

Major Richard F. Beirne, of Allegany county, says he has under consideration announcement, probably this week, of his candidacy for Congress against Representative Hal D. Flood, in the tenth district.

Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, former secretary of the Treasury, comes out strongly against "an indiscriminate bonus to former soldiers" in a letter received by W. O. Came, vice president of the Bristol Chamber of Commerce, in answer to a message in which he urged that the Senator oppose the bill.

The menhaden fishing season legally opened the fourth Monday in May, but owing to the scarcity of coal the plants may not begin operation until the fishermen of the Northern Neck will be the first to adopt the use of hydroplane to locate the schools of fish and report by wireless to the steamers.

Buys Royal Cords Every Leap Year

Every leap year is often enough to buy automobile tires is the opinion of H. C. Sowder, of Tulsa, Okla. At least that is what he said when he entered a tire store recently and bought a new set of United States Royal Cords to take the place of a set purchased in 1916.

"The tires have given me four years of the hardest kind of wear," said Mr. Sowder, "and one of them is still going. I really should take it from my car and place it on the retired list. It has given me such good service that it is rightfully entitled to a rest, but I am anxious to see how long it will last under the hard travel that I am giving my car every day."

A ROYAL CORD RECORD

Three years on United States Royal Cord tires is a record reported by Frank McComb, of Stafford, Kansas.

"During this time," says McComb, "I have made two trips to Colorado Springs going up Pike's Peak and taking in all the mountain drives around there and Denver. I then went to Cheyenne and back over the Lincoln Highway through Nebraska. Last fall I drove to San Francisco, going out by way of the Santa Fe trail and returning over the Borderland trail. The road as a whole was very rough and rocky."

EFFECTS OF PROHIBITION

British "Wets" See "Dry" America as Menace to World's Sugar

London, May 27.—Great Britain's worries over the sugar shortage were not relieved by anything that G. W. Fox, the Government's sugar purchasing agent, had to report on his return from the United States yesterday.

"Unless the United States consents to be rationed again on sugar, the whole world must suffer a shortage, with no prospect of relief this year," said Fox. "The situation certainly is serious."

Fox's estimate of the supply and demand, considered in the light of America's magnified taste for sweets since prohibition became effective, furnished another "talking point" for the British "wets." They now blame this abnormal craving by Americans upon the lack of alcohol and are voicing a fear that America's demand may cause a veritable sugar famine in European countries, where the people cannot bid against Americans in the open sugar markets.

"One of the worst evils of pussyfootism in America is America's present appetite for sugar," said the evening Globe in an editorial. "This should be accepted as a warning against any attempt to try out that specious and dangerous experiment here. Should we be deprived of sugar evils would result which would be infinitely worse than the evils of alcohol

$510,000 FOR WOOD FUND

Washington, May 27. — William Cooper Proctor has advanced $500,000 to the Presidential campaign of Maj.-General Leonard Wood, of which he is manager, he told the Senate expenditure investigating committee yesterday.

"I contributed $10,000 and have since advanced $500,000 of my own money," Proctor said. "My advances total more than the contributions."

An Exceedingly Clever and Decidedly Original Cover Design Ornaments

The Pictorial Review Magazine for June

It represents a wee bridal couple plighting their troth in the crescent moon. But the cover isn't the only interesting thing about this unusually attractive issue. There are some very good stories, special articles and instructive talks on home canning, the simplifying of summer meals, recipes for making the most of strawberries in various ways. And, of course there are fashions for June that are practical, easily followed and very charming.

NO 'WET' PLANK IN PLATFORM

Maryland Republicans Vote Down Resolution Taking Definite Stand

Baltimore, Md., May 27.—There will be no "damp" plank in the Republican State platform. This decision was reached yesterday afternoon when the "drys" voted down a motion to cause the State convention to take a definite stand on the question.

Big American Rubber Plantation

The fascination which the strange lands of the Far East have held for the average American is taking on a more tangible form, now that travel and business are bringing Asia and the United States into closer contact.

No article of commerce is doing more to bring this country into close touch with the mystic East than rubber. The rapid rise to supremacy in the production of crude rubber of the islands of the Indian Ocean, combined with the fact that America consumes nearly three-quarters of all the rubber grown there, has given many Americans an opportunity to peep behind the scenes and become acquainted with the lands and peoples of that distant quarter of the globe.

Although the whole equatorial belt in that section is dotted with rubber plantations, representing a capital investment of nearly half a billion dollars, the thoughts of Americans naturally center on Sumatra where one of America's greatest corporations has established a plantation so vast in area and so highly developed that it stands out as the greatest single plantation in the world. This is the plantation of the United States Rubber Co., comprising 70 square miles of growing trees, an enterprise marked throughout by a magnitude and an efficiency worthy of the best American traditions.

By producing its own rubber the company is in a position to establish a uniformity in its manufactured product, especially United States tires, such as rubber manufacturers have long craved.

EDITH GOULD ELOPES

New York Girl, 18, Marries C. L. Wainwright, 21, Member of Wealthy Family

Elkton, Md., May 27.—Eloping to this town in a hired automobile, Edith C. Gould, daughter of George Gould, of New York city, and Carroll L. Wainwright, 21 years old, son of Stuyvesant Wainright, also of New York city, were married yesterday afternoon by the Rev. John McElmoyle.

A few minutes after the ceremony the young couple sped away in the direction of Philadelphia in the same car that had brought them from that city earlier in the afternoon. They were accompanied by no one except the driver of the car.

They went to Philadelphia from New York by train this morning and hiring the touring car after dinner, proceeded to this place. Only the facts necessary to securing a marriage license were given the clerk who made out the paper. Without delay they then went to the house of the Rev. Mr. Elmoyle.
